22xx, P Kt 5. A pretty trap, for if white Kt xP and black answer with Q to R 4 and then if white plays P to B3, then black plays BxKt and afterwards wins white's queen.

23xx, R xP. A beautiful sacrifice, which presented best hope for winning for black.

33R B1. A blunder which threw away the chance of drawing. ExPch should have been played.

CORRESPONDENCE. CHICAGO CLUB VERSUS H. L JACKSON. To the Checker Editor of The Dispatch: In your department I find you state H. L. Jackson demanded his tee and dues back and left our club because he declined to retract and apologize for his unbecoming language toward a member. Allow me to relate the true state of things:

First-H. L. Jackson applied the word liar to Mr. J. T. Denvir, which is strictly against to Mr. J. T. Denvir, which is strictly against our rules.

Second—He accused J. Suwniskie (our noted boy of 17 years, who beat this H. I. Jackson) of playing dishonestly, and reflected on the lad's good standing: that no boy could beat him at checkers and he did not come to Chicago to be beaten by a boy.

Both cases were reported to me. I drew up the complaints and read publicty in our club, in the presence of H. I. Jackson. Head-mitted the truth of the same, but declined to retract or apologize. I gave him 15 minutes to consider his position, but he still declined. I told him the penalty would be expulsion. He said: "Very well, but give me my fees back," which I did, to save necessity of calling a meeting to vote him out, this being the first case of the kind since the club's origination.
